3. The Department of Botany at Bangabasi Morning College orchestrated a captivating Two-Day Departmental Students' Seminar on Biotechnology from the 20th to the 21st of April 2022. A harmonious convergence of intellect and creativity was witnessed as twenty brilliant minds stepped onto the stage to unveil their research endeavours and unravel the mysteries of biotechnology. The seminar presented an innovative approach, catering to students of varying learning capacities. The advanced learners mesmerized the audience with their insightful PowerPoint presentations, delving into cutting-edge biotechnological advancements and their potential implications. Their eloquence and passion ignited the flames of curiosity in every onlooker. Meanwhile, the Poster Presentation Section provided a nurturing platform for the slow learners to flourish. The walls of the seminar hall transformed into a canvas of ideas and possibilities, as these students eloquently portrayed their research through visually captivating posters. Encouragement and support filled the air, bolstering their confidence and instilling a sense of accomplishment. Throughout the two days, a kaleidoscope of ideas, knowledge, and dreams intertwined, fostering an environment of collaborative learning. The seminar's resounding success exemplified the college's commitment to fostering a learning space that celebrates diversity and empowers every student to reach their full potential. With memories of this remarkable event etched in their hearts, these aspiring biotechnologists now march towards a future teeming with promise and innovation.
